What is PSA surveillance?

Regular measurements of your PSA can help to identify prostate cancer early and ensure you have timely and appropriate treatment.

By taking this card to each appointment and asking for your PSA levels to be added, you will build up a PSA 'fingerprint', providing doctors with a valuable record of how your PSA is behaving over time.

PSA is not a diagnostic test – it is a risk analysis for the presence of prostate cancer. Your doctor will discuss the best treatment for you.
